National Institute of Corrections
PRESENTS:

Unleash Your Leadership Competency Potential for Supervisors

A 3-Session Virtual Instructor Led Training Experience

August 26, September 7, and September 28, 2010

► Audience:

Applicants should be supervisors from any correctional services agency whose overall responsibility includes the implementation of short- and long-term operational goals and objectives that are congruent with the agency's vision and mission. Applicants eligible for this training would typically carry job titles such as: Probation/Parole Supervisor, Community Corrections Manager, Lieutenant/Sergeant of Institutions or Jails, or any other supervisor position in a corrections setting.

► Course Description:

Participants in this training will be exposed to a full range of leadership and supervisory skills that will enable them to effectively lead staff in achieving the agency's mandated mission while moving toward a desired future. This training experience will provide the supervisor with a blueprint of their leadership competency potential, including: a self-assessment/self-awareness profile, learning interventions and action planning steps for their development in at least one leadership competency/skill area.

► Participant Commitment:

By applying for this training, participants are committing to full participation in all 3 of the scheduled online sessions, as well as, completing all pre-session work, and inter-session assignments. It is expected that this course will entail approximately 12 ½ hours of effort (includes 6 ½ hours of synchronous on-line/distance facilitated training- Aug. 26, Sep. 7, and Sep. 28, 2010, plus 6 hours of independent study and practice).

► How to Apply:

To apply for this training program, log onto <http://NIC.Learn.Com>, find the virtual instructor led training program, Unleash Your Leadership Competency Potential for Supervisors, 10V4016, in the training catalog. Click enroll and follow login procedures. Application deadline is August 15, 2010.
